

Health and social care awareness session

Start your health and social career journey today...

We are excited to offer young inspiring minds the opportunity to learn both life skills and gain increased confidence with our new health and social care course. If you are aged between 16 and 30 and not in training, education or employment, then we want to hear from you! Courses are free and all you need to do is sign up.

What's it all about?

- The course is delivered by the School of Nursing Studies team at the College of West Anglia in King's Lynn, in partnership with Boost.
- Participants will learn about the many careers in health and social care, life skills including CPR and Resus, as well as the importance of communication and resilience in the workplace.
- The session aims to help you identify the skills you already have, understand your ambitions for the future and nurture the next generation of health and social care talent.
